General Information:

You must use this application form to make your request for assistance under SC. The date your completed application is received by the Ministry is when you are considered to have requested assistance for the purpose of determining your eligibility.

Before the Ministry can assess an application, you will need to receive an employment assessment from and develop an ESP with an ES provider at an Employment Ontario (EO) assessment centre. In addition, the EO assessment centre will complete the SC Eligibility and Suitability Assessment Template. Please contact the EO hotline by phone at 1 800 387-5656 or visit the EO website at: <http://www.ontario.ca/employmentontario> for information on where you can find an EO assessment centre in your area.

An application for SC must be approved by the Ministry before you start training.

It is important to note that any costs incurred prior to receiving approval from the Ministry are not eligible for reimbursement. If you have a job and are contemplating quitting it in order to attend a skills training course or program, you should not do so without consulting the Ministry beforehand.

Ineligible Individuals:

Individuals are not eligible for SC financial assistance if they have been restricted from receiving assistance under the Ontario Student Assistance Program (OSAP) pursuant to paragraphs 1 or 2 of section 42.1 of Ontario Regulation 268/01 made under the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities Act because they have:

- failed to provide all required information and documents relating to OSAP; or
- provided incorrect information relating to OSAP (or other student financial assistance offered by Canada or a province/territory) or failed to promptly update information previously provided.

See OSAP section, next page

Individuals who begin skills training before being approved by the Ministry are not eligible for the SC program.

Individuals who were laid-off on or after January 1, 2005, who subsequently worked in a full-time job (excluding 'interim' jobs) but quit or were terminated from the job, are not eligible for the SC program.

Individuals who are working in a full-time job after maternity or parental benefits have ended and that job is not an interim job are not eligible for the SC program because they are considered to have “re-entered” the work force.

Individuals who are in a work-sharing program are not eligible for the SC program. Work-sharing is a Human Resources and Skills Development Canada (HRSDC) adjustment program designed to help employers and employees avoid temporary lay-offs when there is a reduction in the normal level of business activity that is beyond the control of the employer. The program provides income support under EI Part 1 to employees eligible for EI Part I benefits who work a temporarily reduced work week while their employer recovers.

Individuals with a 900 series Social Insurance Number (SIN) are not eligible for the SC program until they become a permanent resident and are issued a new SIN. A 900 series SIN is issued on a temporary basis to those immigrants who are not Canadian citizens or permanent residents in Canada. The following exception applies:

- Individuals with a 900 series SIN who have been determined to be a convention refugee by the Refugee Protection Division of the Immigration and Refugee Board and are awaiting their official documents (i.e. certification, regular SIN). Usually, these individuals will have a letter to this effect and must present documentation to support their change in status.

Individuals must present the Ministry with their new non 900 series SIN when they receive it.

Individuals who, regardless of funding source (e.g. self-funded, funded by the Ministry), have completed a skills training program in the last two years (i.e. 24 months) are not eligible for the SC program. In exceptional cases (e.g. medical reasons), individuals who cannot pursue employment in the occupation for which they were trained may be considered prior to the end of the two year period.

Individuals who are not intending to return to school in the upcoming academic year, and who have not made the transition from school to work (i.e. not worked a consecutive 12 months), are not eligible for the SC program. Individuals who return to school after casual employment (e.g. summer employment or Christmas employment) would not be considered as having made the transition from school to work, and therefore are not eligible for the SC program.

Individuals who have taken a leave of absence are not eligible for the SC program.

Individuals who quit or are terminated from their employment (excluding an interim job) are not eligible for the SC program.

OSAP:

Individuals may have received a notice from the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities advising them that they have been restricted from eligibility for OSAP assistance for a period of 1 to 5 years. Once this time period ends, individuals continue to be restricted from eligibility until all OSAP assistance has been repaid. If individuals are unsure of their OSAP restriction status and the reason for the restriction, they should check the OSAP web site by logging into their account to check their status. If they are restricted and need more information on how to become eligible for OSAP again, they may contact the Student Financial Assistance Branch of the Ministry at 416 314-0714.

Before you are approved by the Ministry for SC financial assistance, Ministry staff will confirm whether you are ineligible because you are restricted from eligibility for OSAP assistance.

If you are approved for SC financial assistance and also receive OSAP assistance, your eligibility for OSAP assistance and type and amount of OSAP assistance may be reassessed and you may be required to repay all or part of your OSAP assistance..

Suitability:

Individuals must meet the SC eligibility requirements above to be assessed for SC suitability. ES providers must use the SC Eligibility and Suitability Assessment Template to complete the assessment process. Individuals are assessed against seven criteria, each of which has two or three measurably different indicators of suitability. Those individuals who meet the baseline score will be considered suitable for SC. Individuals who score below the baseline must be redirected to other Employment Ontario (EO) and community programs and services.

The suitability criteria are:

Active Job Search - Duration of job search and the dedication of time and effort to preparing (e.g. the creation of resume and cover letters, interview practice, compilation of references, etc.), researching (e.g. review of job postings, utilization of job-finding clubs, attendance at job fairs, etc.) and pursuing work (e.g. cold calling, applying to known and hiring employers, etc.) for employment in fields related to an individual's work experience, skills, education and training. A client's participation at an Action Centre is considered evidence of active job search.

Duration of Unemployment - The number of weeks an individual has been out of work based on lay-off date.

Educational Attainment - The highest education level an individual has completed.

Work History - Duration an individual has worked in same occupation.

Labour Market Prospects – A credential/license may or may not be required for the chosen occupation. An individual demonstrates greater suitability if he/she must have a credential in order to obtain employment.

Type of Training - Skills training that leads to a credential and meets additional SC skills training considerations. An individual must research at least three training institutions [including at least one College of Applied Arts and Technology (CAAT) and one Private Career College (PCC)], if feasible, and consider the cost effectiveness of training. An exception based on feasibility might include the lack of training institutions within commuting distance. This also applies to LBS training.

Experience: Occupational Skills - Extent of skills and experience an individual possess that are relevant to the current labour market and available opportunities; need for retraining.

SC Skills Training:

Skills training must be vocational in nature (i.e. occupationally specific) in order to be eligible for SC consideration. Non-vocational programs, including professional development programs, are not allowed even when the program is exempt from requiring the Ministry's approval under the Private Career Colleges Act, 2005.

Allowable skills training includes skills training for specific occupations, Literacy and Basic Skills (LBS) training and English or French as a Second Language training for labour market destined individuals (i.e. LBS training if it is a prerequisite for the chosen occupational skills training or a specific employment opportunity and is not an end in and of itself). A specific employment opportunity would be a documented offer of employment on company letterhead.

Skills training is allowable for NOC skill level B and C (of the Statistics Canada NOC Skills Matrix 2011) occupations and equivalent with good employment prospects in Ontario. This includes programs provided by universities.

Both short-term (i.e. under 6 months) and long-term skills training (i.e. up to 24 months) are allowable.

The maximum duration cannot exceed 2 calendar years (24 months), excluding a maximum of one calendar year (12 months) for LBS training or language training. In exceptional cases, the final semester/term in the skills training may extend beyond the three year limit. In these exceptional cases, the final semester/term should end within a reasonable time (i.e. within one or two months) of the 3 year window.

For persons with disabilities, LBS training, language training and skills training duration may be extended to meet the special needs of these individuals, and if required the current maximum participant agreement of $28,000 can be exceeded.

Skills training must lead to a certificate or diploma.

Financial Needs Assessment:

Financial assistance during skills training may be provided to individuals who are determined to be eligible and most suitable for skills training and have the ability to succeed.

Individuals who meet the eligibility criteria and obtain the baseline suitability assessment score are then assessed to determine financial need. The Ministry is responsible for completing the financial needs assessment.

The SC financial needs assessment takes into account income level and expenses to determine the amount of financial assistance that may be required for individuals to attend skills training. Assistance is provided to cover all or a portion of the cost of tuition for a program of instruction and/or living expenses. Assistance may also be provided to cover all or part of the incremental costs of participation, such as expenses relating to dependent care, disability needs (See section below), transportation and accommodation. The Harmonized Sales Tax (HST) is an eligible expense for any of the eligible cost categories that can be funded.

As assistance is based on individual need, rates will differ from individual to individual. The Ministry undertakes an assessment of basic living expenses and household income from all sources.

The SC program has a $28,000 maximum for all costs excluding disability needs, dependent care, living away from home allowance and all costs related to LBS training. While there is no limit for these exceptions, the Ministry will determine the extent of financial assistance based on allowable costs (e.g. is the cost indeed incremental, alternative sources of funding, etc.)

Disability Needs:

The Ministry expects training institutions to provide support services and/or equipment to persons with disabilities who are enrolled in skills training at the institution. Persons with disabilities must contact their training institution to determine their need for support services or equipment.

Note: If the training institution does not provide an individual with disability-related support services or equipment, the Ministry may, in exceptional circumstances, provide financial assistance for these disability-related costs to the individual.

If persons have disabilities, the Ministry may extend the duration of their participation in the SC program. Each request for an extension will be assessed by the Ministry on an individual basis. If the duration of the participation in the SC program is extended, the Ministry will continue to provide Basic Living Allowance (BLA) and financial assistance for all applicable costs during the extended period.

If persons with disabilities seek support for disability-related transportation costs from the Ministry, they should be encouraged to first explore alternate sources of funding. If alternate funding cannot be obtained, individuals are required to provide supporting documentation to the Ministry about their disability-related transportation costs.

If the Ministry provides financial assistance for disability-related transportation costs, there is no maximum contribution amount in this category.

Income Tax:

Financial assistance paid to SC participants is included as income for tax purposes. Tax will be deducted at source from financial assistance payable to participants with the exception of dependent care costs, disability costs and tuition, including tuition for Adult Basic Education, which is no longer subject to tax.

You may be able to claim the tuition tax credit for tuition that you pay in order to take a program if the training institution you attend is eligible to issue tuition receipts for purposes of the tuition tax credit.

It is your responsibility to check with the Canada Revenue Agency or any potential training institution to make sure it is eligible to issue these receipts (T2202). If the institution is not eligible, you should know that you will not be able to reduce the income tax you have to pay on the money you receive for tuition costs by means of the tuition tax credit.
