Employment Ontario Bulletin

December 15, 2016

On May 2, 2016, we held the second Employment Ontario (EO) Leadership Awards ceremony. The awards were a success – thanks to those of you who submitted nominations and came out to support your colleagues from across the network.

As you know, the award program was introduced in 2015 and was intended to recognize EO service providers who have shown exceptional leadership to improve service for clients. The initial focus of the awards were innovation and collaboration, and was expanded this year to include customer service.

As part of the ministry's ongoing evaluation of the program, which includes feedback received from the network, a decision has been made to hold the EO Leadership Awards every two years, instead of one.

This change will provide EO service providers with more time to collect and analyze evidence of the success of their initiatives.

The next call for nominations will be sent out in the fall of 2017. We look forward to reading your submissions!

Thank you for your ongoing support, and happy holidays!
