Dear Ontario Bridge Training Program Partners:

I would like to officially welcome you to the Employment Ontario (EO) network.

Since the announcement of the program transfer to the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities (TCU) last year, we have learned much about the Bridge Training Program. As the very first custodians of the Bridge Training Program, we at TCU are very pleased to be partners once again in this important work that adds value to the lives of skilled newcomers and enhances Ontario's competitiveness in a global economy.

As we transition you into TCU operations, the most important thing you should know is that as of April 2019, your agreements will be managed by TCU local offices based on TCU's Employment Ontario accountability framework which focuses on rigorous monitoring of agreements and outcomes to realize the government's mandate to achieve the best value for money. Bridge Training projects have been assigned to local offices based on the same geographical area where your head office is located and/or where your projects activities are delivered. This means that you will be working with an Employment and Training Consultant who is physically close by, and understands the local context in which you deliver your programs.

In April 2019, you will be contacted by the Employment and Training Consultant who will be assigned to your project. The Employment and Training Consultant will be your go-to person for all your questions and concerns.

We look forward to a continued partnership in our common goal of integrating skilled immigrants effectively and efficiently into Ontario's labour market.

Sincerely,
Jacqueline Cureton
