Development Name Update

Dear Employment Ontario delivery partners:

I am writing to you today about the government's June 2022 announcement about the expansion of our ministry's responsibilities which has been reflected in the updated name: Ministry of Labour, Immigration, Training and Skills Development.

The new ministry name recognizes our role in creating and promoting pathways to immigrate to Ontario and the associated supports for newcomers and refugees moving to, and settling in, the province. This expanded responsibility is in addition to the ministry's continuous work of protecting workers and settling workplace disputes, supporting skilled trades, apprenticeships, and employment services.

As partners in delivering many of Ontario's employment and training programs we appreciate your support in ensuring that your organization uses the ministry's new name on a go-forward basis, including all future documents, websites and marketing materials. Please reach out to your regional office if you have any questions or concerns about this obligation. A Questions and Answers document is also attached for your reference.

I would like to thank you for your continued commitment to meet the evolving needs of job seekers, workers, employers, as well as newcomers in Ontario.

Sincerely,

Assistant Deputy Minister, Employment and Training Division
